THE SELECTIVE DRAFT

The principle of the selective draft which seems to be the idea of the administration and which will likely be adopted by congress is explained by the New York world as being born of the bitter experience of the British government in this war.

It would be easy enough for the United States in raising a volunteer army. We doubt if any practical difficulty would be experienced in recruiting 3,000,000 men to serve until the end of the war, but to gather up such a force indiscriminately by the volunteer system might readily result in an irretrievable military disaster.

This is a war in which the army itself is only one of the units. Agriculture must be carried on without interference. The essential industries must be safeguarded in their man-power. Transportation must not be interrupted.

The selective-draft system, by which all men between the ages of nineteen and twenty-five are called into the service of the country, enables the government to raise an army without weakening its economic resources. Under that policy men who ought to be on the farms can be kept on the farms. Men who ought to be in the factories can be kept in the factories. Men who ought to be on the railroads can be kept on the railroads. The army can be made up of men without wives or dependents, of men taken from the non-essential industries. At the same time, the shirkers and slackers can be compelled to do their share, either in military or industrial service.

It is a system under which the idle sons of the rich must bear their share of the common burden along with the sons of the poor.

It is the only system under which the right man can be sent to the right place.

When the British volunteer army was recruited, men whose services were invaluable to the military industries of the country freely enlisted, and the damage was incalculable. In one battalion there were 200 expert munition-workers who were worth their weight in gold to their country in the industry that they deserted. Former non-commissioned ofifcers who were indespensable to training recruits volunteered as privates and were sent to the front, where their exceptional qualifications were wasted. It was finally necessary to begin at the beginning and reorganize the military industries of the country in order successfully to carry on the war.

Should congress insist on repeating the mistake of the British government, we shall not only cripple ourselves but cripple the French and British troops now fighting in the trenches. We shall have an army that we cannot transport to Europe, but in the meantime we shall have demoralized industries that are vital to the winning of the war. We shall have tens of thousands of men in uniform who ought to be doing something else, and tens of thousands of other men doing nothing who ought to be in uniform.

The principal of the selective draft means neither more nor less than the application of experience and proved effectiveness to the carrying on of war, and when a nation makes war it is criminal to adopt half-hearted or half-way measures. We know exactly what happens when the selective draft is applied to the raising of an army. We know exactly what happens when it is not applied. Neither theory nor sentiment can count against the facts in the case, and the supreme duty that congress owes to the country is to face the facts.

WILL BE REAL WAR

It must have dawned on most of us by this time that in entering the war we are entering upon a tremendously serious business.

We shall not find the war any child's game. We shall not find it a mere stage drama on which we may look as thrilled but remote spectators. We shall not find it a summer's sport. We shall not be able to wage war as a skilled speculator plays the stock market. We shall not be able, with all our wealth and our imagined remoteness from the scene of conflict, to buy substitute fighters or purchase immunity from suffering.

Of course we need not expect to suffer as the Belgians, the Serbians, the Poles, the French, have suffered. Invasion of our soil is still unthinkable. We may not be obliged to put millions of our young men into the trenches as cannon fodder. We shall hardly feel the sorrows of bereavement or the pinch of hunger or the burdensome taxation and financial exhaustion of the nations that have borne the brunt of the battle for nearly three years. But we shall probably be chastened, nevertheless, before we get through, by grief and loss and hardship and disappointment.

The sinking of a few ships since Germany entered upon the ruthless policy that drove us to armed defense has been but a mild beginning. We shall have many ships sunk. We may lose half our shipping. We may lose a large part of our war fleet. We may find the problem of getting munitions and supplies across the water to our associates-in-war increasingly difficult. We may find our commerce menaced and limited on our own coast. We may see our seaports bombarded. We may see our ships and factories blown up by enemies in our midst. We may suffer from food scarcity more than we think. We may have war with Mexico, with all the effort and loss that such a struggle would entail. We may lose thousands of sailors from our navy and our merchant fleet. We may grow sad at heart as the war drags on and the end that we seek recedes like the end of the rainbow.

To take our task lightly and cheerily would be to sport with tragedy and invite disaster. We must set to work with a grim consciousness of what this great adventure means. We must determine that, whatever comes we shall see it through. We must face the idea that the burden might, eventually, fall upon us alone, and agree that we shall not flinch in our purpose even if all the other nations seeking to subdue the Prussian menace should weaken and yield.

We know that we shall win. It is inconceivable that so great and powerful a people should not win in so just and noble a cause, but we shall win the more easily and quickly if we magnify our task rather than minimize it, and set to work with the feeling that we are more responsible than France or Russia or Great Britain, or all of them together, for putting down this monster that threatens the world's freedom and civilization.

When the Kaiser is sick a Democrat he would be, when the Kaiser is well devil a Damocrat is he.

Our vegetarians do not care how soon we have to follow the European war fashion of having fixed meatless days.

Of course it's a man who suggests that as a war measure all women pledge themselves to buy fewer clothes.

Experience has shown squabbling over details to have added largely to the cost of war without ever helping to win a victory.

The British chief of staff is not among those who consider Germany exhausted—he says its armies are a million men stronger than ever.

STOP CATARRH! OPEN NOSTRILS AND HEAD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Relieves Head-Colds at Once.

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed and you can't breathe freely because of a cold or catarrh, just get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head, soothing and healing the inflamed, swollen mucous membrane and you get instant relief.

Ah! how good it feels. Your nostrils are open, your head is clear, no more hawking, snuffling, blowing; no more headache, dryness or struggling for breath. Ely's Cream Balm is just what sufferers from head colds and catarrh need. It's a delight.

DIAMOND NOTES

HIT STRIDE SOON.

The team that beats the Richmond Elks this season will have to go some.

This much is evident from the way the boys played an opening game with the Olympics. It is further impressed on the uninitiated by the young material which Manager Otto Dietrich is working with.

In their game Sunday against the Alameda team, the Elks will have to put in their best licks as the Encinal City aggregation has some of the fastest bush league players now scampering on ball-lots in its make-up.

"Bull" Croll head of the Alameda team is making every effort to gather together a fast infield and hard hitting outfield for the game Sunday.

IT'S A FACT.

Pitcher Schinkle, who just now is tearing the cover off the ball for the Bees with his terrific speed was formerly from this city.

There are few who will remember Schinkle while here as he never seemed to have anything on the pellet at that time besides his fingers.

"POOR LITTLE RICH GIRL" AT T. & D. SOON

In one of the most thrilling of her many beautiful productions Blanche Sweet will be seen at the T. & D. Richmond theater today and tomorrow in the Lasky-Paramount production "Those Without Sin."

The story was written especially for her by Harvey T. Thew and prepared for the screen by George D. Proctor and Thomas Geraghty. Miss Sweet has played many parts, but never has she been seen to as good advantage as in this role of a young Southern girl. The scenes of the story are laid in Richmond, Va., during the Civil War.

Manager J. H. Wilson of the theater, announces his engagement for Monday and Tuesday of Mary Pickford's newest photoplay released by Artcraft Pictures, "A Poor Little Rich Girl," adapted from the well-known book and play of the same name by Eleanor Gates.

As an ideal vehicle for "Little Mary," it is readily felt that this story affords Miss Pickford one of the best motion picture subjects ever secured for her. The novel by Eleanor Gates of which a special photoplay edition has just been issued, became widely popular as did the play which scored a big hit at the Hudson Theater, New York City, several years ago and duplicated this success on the road.

RAGS WANTED — Clean cotton rags, suitable for wiping machinery wanted at this office. tf

Start Tomorrow and Keep It Up Every Morning

Get in the habit of drinking a glass of hot water before breakfast.

We're not here long, so let's make our stay agreeable. Let us live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, and look well, what a glorious condition to attain, and yet, how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of inside-bathing before breakfast. —advt.

ST. MARK'S WHIST PARTY PROVES AN ELABORATE SOCIAL AFFAIR

Nine prizes were awarded at the whist party held by the ladies of St. Mark's Catholic church in the church assembly hall at Tenth street and Bissell avenue last night.

In charge of the evening's affair was John Dooling who was ably assisted as head by the reception committee by a large number of assistants. Twenty-five tables were occupied at the party. The ladies of the church are extremely thankful for the capable manner in which the affair was conducted by Chairman Dooling and his assistants among whom were Mrs. Riordan, Miss McGann, Mrs. Hartnett and others.

The affair proved one of the most successful affairs which the church has held this year. The prize winners for the evening were Miss Florence Tavolara, door prize; Mary McCarter, third; Miss Shiela Murphy, Carter, third; Miss Shiela Murphy, fourth; Mrs. Craig, fifth; Mrs. Stetson, sixth; Mr. McCluckey, seventh and Mrs. McClusky, eighth.

BARACA CLASS MAKES EXCELLENT PROGRESS IN CHURCH BUILDING

Because of crowded conditions at the Calvary Baptist Church, the Baraca Bible Class is building an addition to the church by pushing the front end of the church out to the sidewalk.

This will increase the seating capacity which is badly needed.

It will also provide a special Classroom for the Baraca class which has had a remarkable growth lately.

The room is being built by the Baraca men and will be ready for use one week from Sunday.

WONDERFULLY GOOD SUITS AT $25.00

Many Women Buying Them on Credit.

The special $25 suits being shown at CHERRY'S Credit Clothing Stores are attracting much attention. It is astonishing how excellent a garment $25 can purchase in these popular shops.

With prices of wearing apparel noticeably high elsewhere, it is indeed fortunate that women in moderate circumstances can get stylish, worth-while clothing at a popular price. These handsome suits are the latest style—plain tailored or sport effects. In the latter group the bright colors predominate, because these, as every woman knows, are all the rage now.

Whether you want a Sport Suit or a more conservative model, you might as well go to CHERRY'S at once and open a credit account. A small first payment is all the money required. The subsequent installments will be arranged practically to suit your convenience.

In Oakland Cherry's have a Ladies' Store at 515 13th and a Men's Clothing Store at 523 13th.

Cherry's have two stores in San Francisco—one at 48 and 52 Geary, between Kearny and Grant ave., and 2400 Mission, cor. 20th.
